

THE PATH TO ACCREDITATION

APPLYING FOR A SECOND ACCREDITATION

There are two primary types of NCCER accreditation - one to offer NCCER training and another to offer assessments. If want to pursue both types of accreditation, you must apply for an assessment center accreditation first. If you are applying for a second accreditation, continue on the path below.

HOW TO PURSUE A SECOND ACCREDITATION

CONTINUE AFTER BECOMING A TRAINING SPONSOR OR ASSESSMENT CENTER CANDIDATE

APPLICATION PROCESSING

1. Submit self-assessment (allow 2-3 weeks).
2. NCCER reviews self-assessment and asks questions if needed (allow 2-3 weeks).
3. Approval!

2 WEEKS

PHASE 05

APPLICATION SUBMISSION

1. Complete and submit the application for accreditation.
2. NCCER reviews the application (allow 2 weeks)
3. Upon approval, pay the application fee.

Note: You do not have to retake the Master Trainer or Administrator Class, if you are an Accredited Assessment Center. If you are an Accredited Training Sponsor adding an assessment center, you must attend the Administrator Class.

CANDIDATE STATUS

1. Train and certify personnel who are overseeing the program.
2. Begin your program! Start training or using assessments and submit completions.

If interested, you may now:

- Order material from Pearson for training curriculum or from NCCER for assessments.
- If you are an Training Sponsor Candidate, you may now register training units and/or schools to become Accredited Training and Education Facilities under your sponsorship.
- Pursue a crane-related endorsement if you are an Assessment Center Candidate.

3. NCCER schedules audit.

Note: If initially applying for both types of accreditation, only one initial audit is scheduled.
