

Voices from the Field

What the Construction Industry Is Saying

Based on responses from nearly 1,400 training providers, employers, educators and industry stakeholders across the construction workforce.

A Trusted Workforce Partner

Over 80% agree NCCER provides the right training resources to develop craft professionals.

Strong Outlook for Craft Training

Two-Thirds expect growth in craft training participation within the next 1–2 years

Top priorities include training options that are:

- ✓ flexible
- ✓ digital
- ✓ modular

Credentials Matter

believe NCCER's curriculum and credentials are important, very important or extremely important

93% say industry-recognized credentials ensure quality, portability and career mobility

Contractor Playbook

Take these steps to strengthen your workforce and stay competitive:

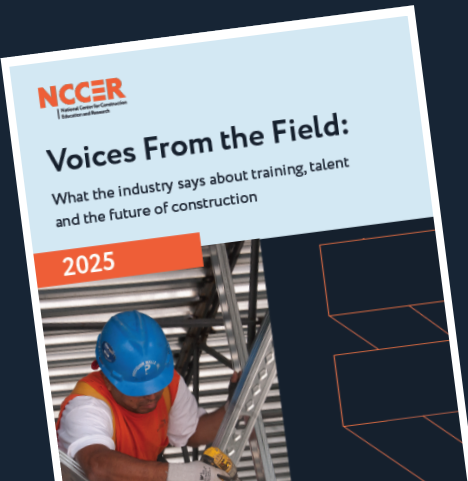

Advocate for construction as a high-opportunity career.

Promote the value of credentials to jobseekers.

Deliver gold-standard, respected training that drives real impact on the jobsite.

Find Out More

Read the full survey to learn how you can help build a stronger workforce at nccer.to/FMI.

**FMI Consulting, a service of FMI Corp, is the leading consulting organization for the construction industry.*